

Learn more about market trends and how our investment plans for your GESB Super, West State Super or Retirement Income account performed over the quarter ending 30 September 2023.

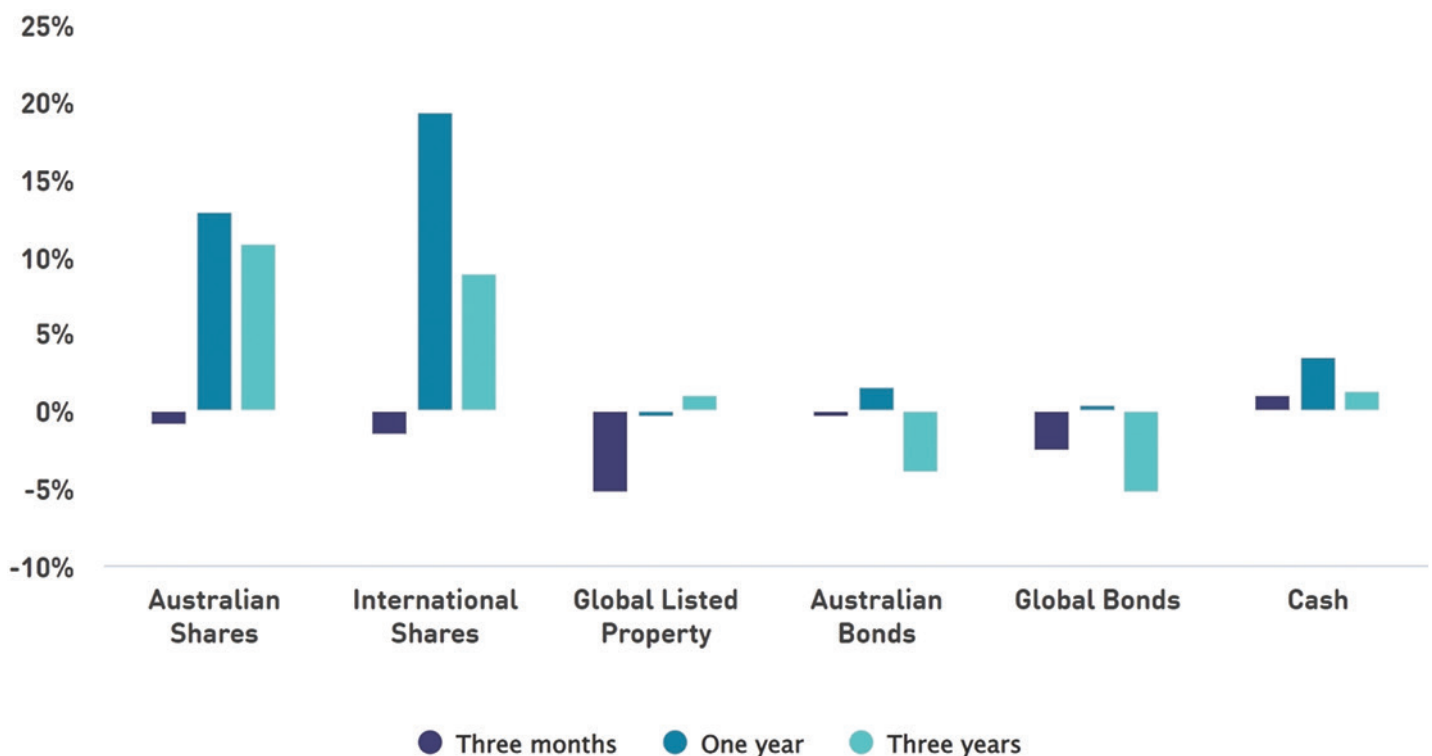

Key highlights:

- Shares posted negative returns over the September 2023 quarter following strong gains in the first half of 2023
- International Shares fell 1.6%, while Australian shares declined by 0.8%
- Bonds also declined, with higher than expected interest rates having a negative impact on returns
- Australian bonds were down 0.3% and global bonds dropped 2.5%
- My GESB Super returned -0.83%; My West State Super returned -0.88%; and RI Allocated Pension Conservative returned -0.13%

Investment market returns: short and medium term

Shares have performed well over the past three years, but Bond returns have been negative over the same period. Property returns have been flat to negative over the time periods shown, while Cash has generated low but positive returns.

Asset class index returns

Note: the indices used to track the performance of the asset classes shown above are listed at the end of this update.

What were the main reasons for recent investment market returns?

- Interest rates – higher for longer

Investment markets priced in expectations that interest rates would remain higher for longer on stronger economic growth and employment in the United States.

- Financial market headwinds

Rising energy prices, the weak economic recovery in Europe and concerns on the financial viability of Chinese property developers put downward pressure on shares.

- Central bank actions

The US Federal Reserve and the European Central Bank (ECB) raised their official cash rates by 0.25% in July. The ECB raised the official cash rate again in September with the intention of guiding inflation back to its target. The US Federal Reserve and the Bank of England, as well as the Reserve Bank of Australia, kept rates unchanged in September.

Investment market returns: long term

Over the longer term (10 years), investments such as Shares and Property have produced the highest returns but with greater variability. Cash has delivered the lowest but most stable returns. This is illustrated in the chart below.

Cumulative asset class index returns
